Over the years, I've read all of Norvel Hayes' books - the large ones as well as the small. I've also listened to many of his audio teachings. The only book I haven't read is his biography, but I've read all his teaching publications. In my opinion, this one is his best - even better than his most popular one, "How To Live and Not Die." In this book, Norvel explains many of the things not found in other books. For example, he talks about not wearing yourself out as you stand firmly on God's promises and resist the evil forces coming against you in your life. Not that he didn't talk about those things in his previous books, but the details given in this book come from the vantage point of someone with years of experience doing the very things he's exhorting his readers to do. That makes a big difference. He also talks about the price we pay to walk in God's destiny for our lives. We each have our own path to follow that's been laid out by God and there's no need to worry follow what someone else is doing. This book isn't about formulas. It's about Jesus Christ, the larger than life Son of God, who is willing to come and help you personally in your life as soon as you learn how to say what the Bible says about your situation instead of what your neighbors, friends or other people say. This book wasn't written so you'd become a follower or fan of Norvel Hayes. Or to sell more books. It was written to encourage you to become a follower of Jesus in your daily experience. And in that regard, it hits the mark perfectly. This book has a great balance of scriptures along with real-life, contemporary examples of how to apply God's Word to every area of your life and gain the victory you're looking for.

Norvel Hayes has been flying under the big media radar for years. That's probably because that's the way he and God wanted it. The easy conversational style of his books will come as no surprise to those who have heard him preach and teach through the years. All his books are filled with his personal testimony and incidents from his life and the way he has put The Word to work in solving issues in his own and other's lives, especially in the areas of healing and deliverance.

Read this book in 2012 after he visited our church in Milwaukee, WI (Spirit Life Church). As soon as I opened this book, I love it. I have highlighted so many things and shared lessons from this book on my virtual ministry radio program: DYRP Midnight Hour. He teaches us how to resist the devil from trying to steal our destiny. How God has given us our talents and abilities since birth; talents come from God and how he chooses. How to conduct your ministry, and unique abilities that God has bestowed upon us all. We will either do it for evil (world) or for GOD (according to His word). I learned that I was "lusting after marriage" and the enemy set me up with a mate. I also learned he stepped out of God's will and ended abruptly, this book covered it all and gave me insight I needed from the heavens above. Moreover, we are to search out God's destiny for our lives, accept our anointing and talents may not be the same with someone else, and resist the Devil when he tries to get us off course of our God-given destinies. We are to firmly believe in God's word and believe the promises that God has given us. Continue to pursue our destinies, remain encouraged, and receive the full peace and joy and be content. Remember our priorities since we will come against temptation, do the calling that God has laid out for us in His original blueprint. Nothing is impossible for God, stop looking in our natural eyes and seek for supernatural strength to overcome the enemy!
